Subject: Application for Long Stay (D) Study Visa

Dear Visa Officer, my name is Sumona Akter, and I am writing to respectfully apply for a Long Stay (D) Study Visa to pursue the Bachelor of Arts (Honours) in Business (Management) at Dublin Business School (DBS), commencing in September 2025.

I come from a science background and have maintained a strong academic record throughout both my secondary and higher secondary education. My academic journey has helped me develop a solid foundation in analytical thinking and problem-solving, while also strengthening my communication and reasoning skills—qualities that are essential for success in the field of business.

Although I began my studies in the science stream, my growing interest in entrepreneurship, business innovation, and global trade has inspired me to transition into the field of business studies. I believe the analytical mindset developed through science perfectly complements strategic thinking in business. By pursuing Business (Management) at DBS, I aim to blend these strengths and prepare myself for a leadership role in Bangladesh's private sector.

I chose Ireland because of its world-class education system, welcoming atmosphere, and strong focus on student success. Irish universities are globally recognized for combining academic excellence with practical, industry-relevant teaching. As an English-speaking country deeply connected to global business and innovation, Ireland offers students like me an opportunity to gain both theoretical and real-world skills that are essential for today's job market. Beyond academics, Ireland's safe, inclusive, and multicultural environment fosters creativity, critical thinking, and personal growth. The smaller class sizes and strong academic support create an ideal setting for international students to succeed. In contrast, while Bangladesh offers undergraduate business programs, they are often more theoretical and limited in terms of international exposure. Ireland's emphasis on applied learning and global perspectives makes it a far more comprehensive and future-focused choice for my academic journey.

Although I studied science in both SSC and HSC, I've developed a strong and growing interest in business—especially in understanding how organizations evolve, strategize, and lead in today's dynamic world. My background in science has sharpened my ability to think critically and solve problems logically, and I now wish to apply those skills in a new context: understanding business strategy, people management, and entrepreneurship from a global lens. The BA (Hons) in Business (Management) at Dublin Business School is the ideal pathway for this transition. The course is thoughtfully designed to provide foundational and advanced knowledge in business administration, leadership, marketing, and strategic planning. Its industry-aligned curriculum, taught by experienced professionals, ensures real-world relevance and practical learning. The opportunity to work on real projects, engage with peers from diverse backgrounds, and gain exposure to global business practices will help me grow into a well-rounded and adaptable professional. By studying in Ireland, I am confident that I will gain the academic knowledge, skills, and global perspective necessary to return home and make a meaningful impact in Bangladesh's business and entrepreneurial ecosystem—whether by launching my own business or working within forward-thinking organizations.

I plan to arrive in Ireland by 10 September 2025, in time for the induction week starting 15 September, and to begin classes on 22 September. I have already received a confirmed offer from DBS. My tuition fees and living expenses are fully arranged and will be covered by my family, as shown in the financial documents included with my application. I confirm that I have no family members residing in Ireland or any EU country.

I fully understand and accept the conditions of my visa, and I declare the following:

- I will comply with all Irish immigration and visa regulations during my stay.
- I will not rely on public services such as hospitals or welfare schemes.
- I will not become a financial burden on the Irish State.
- I will leave Ireland before my immigration permission expires, unless I am legally permitted to remain further for study or other approved purposes.

My sole reason for traveling to Ireland is to pursue full-time higher education, and upon completing my degree, I intend to return to Bangladesh and contribute meaningfully to the country's business landscape.

Thank you very much for considering my application. I respectfully request your kind approval so I can take this important step in my academic and professional journey.

Yours sincerely,

Sumona Akter
